Dion - The outstanding issue is whether it will be required that we evaluate earthworms and if so, the specific assessment endpoint and associated measurement endpoints for that evaluation.

By way of explanation, assessment endpoints are (as defined by USEPA) "explicit expressions of the actual environmental value that is to be protected" and that there are three principal criteria that are used to select values that may be "appropriate for assessment endpoints: (1) ecological relevance, (2) susceptibility to known or potential stressors, and (3) relevance to management goals" (Guidelines for Ecological Risk Assessment; USEPA, 1998).

Thx for your help - Jeff

Dion - We did make progress, but still have at least 1 outstanding issue that he said he will get back to us on.

Thx

Jeff

Spoke with Ryan earlier this morning and am assuming that you and he resolved the outstanding issues you mention below-is this correct?

Dion - Again, thank you for setting up today's call with Ryan, and having him available to us. We covered quite a bit of ground on the call, but still have a number of important technical issues requiring closure. Therefore, we'd like to have another call with Ryan, preferably tomorrow (Thursday). Please let me know what times work for you/Ryan - I can juggle my schedule as necessary to accommodate your and Ryan's needs.

Thank you for your continued help.
